

EXTRA SESSION IN NORTH CAROLINA

Governor Glenn Calls the Legislature Together to Revise the Railroad Rate Law.

A LETTER TO THE PEOPLE

All the Railroads, Save One, Have Accepted the Terms Which He Has Offered.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C., January 8.—Governor Glenn, after a session of the council of State, issued his proclamation for a special session of the General Assembly of North Carolina to begin on Tuesday the 21st of January. The proclamation states that the specific purpose of the extra session is to change, modify, straighten or repeal the railroad passenger rate of 2 1/4 cents a mile passed at the last session of the Legislature, and also the law concerning unjust discrimination in freight rates.

The Governor's Terms.
With the proclamation Governor Glenn issued a letter to the people of the State in which he set out the specific act to be presented to the Legislature, saying that the terms offered by him to the railroads have been accepted by all but one, and that this road (referring to the Atlantic Coast Line) accepts as the terms except an agreement for an interstate rate, saying it has no power to do this, the Governor adding, but doubtless circumstances will regulate this rate as requested. He states that the Legislature will be asked to increase the 2 1/4 cent rate to 2 1/2 cents, with a charge of 15 cents extra for passengers who fail to buy tickets, and to repeal the present law and the penalties.

If this is done, the railroads agree to the flat 2 1/2-cent interstate rate, and also to issue 2,000-mile books, intrastate, interchangeable with solvent roads, good for heads of firms and employees not exceeding five, at 2 cents a mile; 1,000-mile books, intrastate, limited to one person, at 2 cents a mile; 500-mile books, intrastate, at 2 1/4 cents, good for heads and dependent members, named, for a term of five years, except the 500-mile books, intrastate, to apply to interstate travel on company's lines in Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, and on other roads if they agree. All books are to be good for one year, and to be redeemable.

Just and Equitable.
Governor Glenn says that he considers these terms as just and equitable, and that it is better for the State to accept them than to advance the rate from 2 1/4 cents to 3 1/4 cents, or to advance interstate mileage books at 2 cents, and if found objectionable power is to be given the State Corporation Commission, and the railroad to pay $17,500 towards the expense of repealing the Legislature and for court costs.

MAKE PENALTIES SEVERE.

Judge Purnell Will Rigorously Enforce the Prohibition Law.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
WILMINGTON, N. C., January 8.—The fall term, being a postponed one, of the United States District Court convened for the Wilmington District yesterday, and with a docket loaded down with violations of the internal revenue laws, such as retailing liquor without license, illicit distilling, etc. The opening session was marked by Judge Purnell's charge, dealing largely and pointedly with the prohibition question, as he expressed the opinion that prohibition does not prohibit, but added that for violations of prohibition laws, the severest penalty should be given; that while he might not be in a position to express his personal opinion on the subject, he had no right to be expressed in court, yet both State and government officers should strive to uphold the law. While he had gathered from the newspapers that in many prohibition communities in North Carolina, State officers did not do their duty, yet the government officers were doing theirs, and his court did not intend to impose any more thirty and sixty-day jail sentences in such cases, but, unless there appeared mitigating circumstances, he would impose a heavy penitentiary sentence; that although he would make no rule, his court would be inclined to impose the maximum sentence. Then in substantiation of his idea, a young, well-dressed negro man, Handy Holmes, who submitted to selling liquor in a poolroom in Fayetteville, where he was working, told the heavy hand of the law. Judge Purnell's only comment was "running a blind tiger" in a poolroom in a prohibition county. One year in the penitentiary. And the negro went in the day soon, and to the government prison in Atlanta.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON A SAFE HOME TREATMENT

In S. S. S. nature has provided a certain, safe, home cure for Contagious Blood Poison. It is a medicine made entirely of roots and herbs of recognized blood-purifying value, and is the one medicine which is able to get down to the root of the trouble and remove every particle of the virus, and at the same time benefit and build up the system and general health. No harmful effects ever follow its use, as is so often the case when strong mineral medicines are used. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the disease begins to improve, and when the remedy has thoroughly purified the blood and driven out every trace of the poison, no signs of the trouble are ever seen again. The general manifestations of Contagious Blood Poison such as falling hair, copper-colored spots, ulcerated mouth and throat, sores and ulcers, etc., are merely symptoms of the poisoned condition of the blood, and in most cases respond quickly to local treatment, while S. S. S. is doing the necessary work of cleansing the blood. Our "Home Treatment" book is of great assistance along this line. It is a complete guide for treating the trouble, containing instructions for the different stages of the disease, and also valuable suggestions about the local treatment, that will be most helpful in effecting a cure. We will be glad to send a copy of this book, free of charge, to any who desire it, and if special medical advice is wanted our physicians will take pleasure in supplying it without cost to the patient. If you are suffering with Contagious Blood Poison you can cure yourself in the privacy of your own home by the use of S. S. S., an absolutely safe remedy.

THE MARION TRAGEDY.

Finley Struck Miss Patterson Before Shooting Her Father.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
ASHEVILLE, N. C., Fuller particulars of the tragedy at Marion, which resulted in the death of James Patterson and the wounding of Alfred Patterson, by Gudgeon Finley, because Finley objected to Ed. Williams accompanying Miss Patterson home from church, have been received here. Mrs. Charles Boone, Mrs. James Patterson, Miss Patterson Alfred Patterson and Ed. Williams attended religious services at Elhanan, which is located in East Marion. After the service they went to Boone's restaurant on Main Street for supper. Shortly after they arrived at the restaurant Gudgeon Finley came in and joined them.

When the party were leaving the restaurant Finley made a proposition to escort Miss Patterson, who refused, saying she was going with Ed. Williams. This angered Finley. The party started up Main Street, leaving Finley behind. As they turned the corner of Main and Cross Streets, Finley shot his pistol, following a few minutes later. Finley then raised his pistol and leveled it at the head of Alfred Patterson, but the wounded man struck at the pistol and the ball passed through his brother's shoulder and neck. No weapons were found on the Pattersons. Finley says he shot in self-defense, and shows some cuts about his clothing which he claims were made by knives of the Pattersons.

No testimony has been taken in the case as yet, as at the preliminary examination no defense was made, and the defendant was committed to prison without bail.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

THE first flowers of the new year, the graceful, waxen petalled hyacinths, the sweet-smelling narcissi and fluted gold of the daffodils, have arrived to put out of favor the red and green of past December.

The January society girl with a taste for window gardening, or interior decoration, now has all the opportunity she desires for producing charming effects. Nothing is daintier or fresher than the white hyacinths and maiden-hair, for drawing-room or table adornment. Nothing could be more suggestive as a harbinger of spring than a big bowl of daffodils, wreathed around with smilax.

For the adornment of the January girl herself there are violets, than which nothing could be more fragrant or appropriate. And there are shades in violets for the girl to choose between. She can have purple or white or blue, just as Lancy turns, though the white varieties are rarer than either of the other two.

It has become quite the fashion for the smart, society girls to have a few of violets attached to their muffs when they go out walking or visiting. The girl who does not follow the fashion in this instance pins hers to her fur cape or stole, so that she can inhale the perfume of one of the sweetest of all flowers.

This month and next will see the full blossoming and blooming of the daffodil fields in the Channel Islands. Thousands of these flowers are sent from the farms to London and Paris during the January and February season.

The beauty and fragrance of the daffodil fields in the Channel Islands attract the attention of thousands of tourists, who are among the number of London purchasers for them. London drawing-rooms and dining-rooms are brightened by the beauty and fragrance of the flowers that grow yearly more into favor.

Miss Woods's Engagement.

Colonel and Mrs. Mirajah Woods, of Charlottesville, Va., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Watts, to Dr. Frank Allemon Lupton, of Birmingham, Ala., the wedding to be celebrated on Thursday, February 13th, in Christ Episcopal Church, Charlottesville.

Miss Woods, who is a typically beautiful Southern girl, has been for some time a frequent visitor to Birmingham on the occasion of the marriage of her uncle, Dr. Lewis Coleman Morris, of that city.

Dr. Lupton occupies a fine position, socially and professionally in Birmingham, and the city, to which he will take his bride, is a city of the most fashionable of the winter season in Charlottesville, and will be largely attended from Richmond. JUST HALF OF JURY FOR TRIAL OF THAW

Drs. William Mabon, Carlos MacDonald and Austin Flint.

Insane at the Time.

The defense in the present trial will be insanity at the time Thaw was killed. In making out their case the defense will need to exercise delicate handling of it to show that Thaw was so deranged at that time as not to know the nature or quality of his act, and to show at the same time that he is now mentally sound. It is placed on the stand Mr. Littleton may draw from the three physicians the opinion that Thaw was also insane at the time of the homicide, and then endeavor to limit all testimony as to the defendant's mental condition to the immediate period of the tragedy. If successful in this the defense would force a trial of the case strictly on the grounds of Thaw's mental condition in the summer of 1906. This would force District Attorney Jerome again to apply for a lunacy commission, and should this occur Thaw's attorneys are confident of his ability successfully to establish his claim of present sanity.

Slow Getting Jurors.

The first batch of talesmen called to the witness chair when court convened to-day were disposed of, as every man had too fixed an opinion to serve as a fair juror until John H. Hobbins, an elderly man and president of a spring water company, was reached. Mr. Hobbins said he had formed something of an opinion, but he was sure he could lay it aside.

He was closely questioned by District Attorney Jerome and Mr. Littleton, and was finally accepted. Philip J. Goodhart, a stock broker, who was absent yesterday when his name was called, appeared to-day and made his excuses. The fine of $250 imposed upon him was remitted by Justice Dowling. Goodhart was examined for a day, and when he declared he had an opinion which could not be changed he got a lecture from the court. Ambrose Shea passed through all the disqualifying questions put to him by opposing counsel, but was peremptorily challenged by the district attorney. John Enright, a carpenter in England, was accepted as a temporary juror. He said he had no prejudice against insanity as a defense.

The defense used its sixth peremptory challenge in the case of J. Holmes Butler, a business man. Mr. Butler successfully answered all questions touching his qualifications. He was anxious not to serve, however, saying his business would go entirely to pieces if he should be compelled to do so.

Within twenty minutes after the afternoon session began another tentative juror had been secured in David E. Arrowsmith, manager of a carpet cleaning concern. Mr. Arrowsmith is a young man, and seemed to pass an ideal examination. Filling the eleventh place proved a hard task, and nearly a score of succeeding talesmen were dismissed by common consent after they had been examined.

Mrs. Thaw Falls Asleep.

The monotony of the examinations and the heat in the courtroom caused Mrs. Evelyn Thaw to drop off to sleep several times, much to the amusement of her husband, who smilingly called the attention of his counsel to the nodding figure. Clarence E. Anderson, a real estate broker, said he had read very little of the first trial, and had no opinion whatever. As to the laws of insanity, he assured counsel of both sides that he would accept without question the instructions of the court. He was accepted provisionally as a juror. George W. Hubble, an insurance actuary, was chosen as the twelfth juror to complete the jury.

Mr. Littleton tried to dissuade him for cause after he had slipped the statement that he felt the defense of insanity had been abused.

Letter of Governor Glenn to Congressmen Leads to This Suggestion.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

RALEIGH, N. C., January 8.—Governor Glenn addressed letters to-day to each member of the North Carolina delegation in Congress—Senators and Representatives—urging them to exert their utmost efforts in behalf of securing at this session of Congress legislation that will insure the termination of the practice, under interstate commerce regulations, of shipping intoxicating liquors into prohibition States. He urges that they support the Holliver-Hepburn or some equally strong measure of this kind.

This action on the part of Governor Glenn, taken simultaneously with the issuance by him of a call for the North Carolina Legislature to convene January 21st, is considered significant. It is regarded by many as a foregone conclusion that, while the issue of State prohibition is not mentioned in the call for the Legislature, it will certainly be taken up and in all probability passed at the special session.
